1:00 p.m.– 2:00 p.m.	Blockchain Technology: The implications for law firms/legal market. Joe Raczynski While blockchain technology is not appropriate for every use case, promising use cases have been identified in banking, capital markets, insurance, supply chains (including trade finance), government, energy, real estate and many more industries. In addition to the more obvious benefits, such as the elimination of trusted intermediaries and the reduction in transaction costs, there are even more fundamental benefits. These arise from the digital and distributed nature of blockchains, which allow for the application of at least two other revolutionary technologies — the Internet of Things (IoT) and Artificial Intelligence (AI) — to the business logic implemented on blockchains. Sponsored by Thomson Reuters
2:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.	Tour Ska-nonh - Great Law of Peace Center http://www.skanonhcenter.org/ The Skä•noñh – Great Law of Peace Center is a Haudenosaunee (Iroquois) Heritage Center focused on telling the story of the native peoples of central New York. The history is told through the lens of the Onondaga Nation and covers topics such as Creation, European Contact, The Great Law of Peace, and more. The Onondagas, or People of the Hills, are the keepers of the Central Fire and are the spiritual and political center of the Haudenosaunee. Sponsored by William S. Hein & Co., Inc.

8:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m.	Vendor Exhibits Open – Mayflower Conference Room
9:00 a.m. – 10:00 a.m.	The Rule of Recognition, the Principle Rule of Legal Research. David C. Walker, J.D., M.L.I.S. The Rule of Recognition is an essential tenet of Hartian positivism. Knowledge of a particular jurisdiction’s rules of recognition, through which we know what counts as law, is essential to conducting legal research. This presentation will explain H.L.A. Hart’s theory of the Rule of Recognition, identify the common rules of recognition inherent in the American Legal System, and address shortcomings with those rules. It will then propose potential avenues to make laws more uniform, leading to greater predictability and fairness, by recommending the adoption of particular rules of recognition by the courts or legislatures.

1:00 p.m. -2:00 p.m.	You Are A designer! Reconceptualizing Librarianship as a Design Profession. Rachel Ivy Clarke Most librarians have a degree in “library science.” But most of the work librarians actually do is design work—creating tools and services like catalogs, reference guides, storytimes, instructional curricula, and all sorts of other information tools and services! In this presentation, I’ll talk about the differences between science and design, show some examples of how librarianship is design-based, and discuss what impacts and changes might occur from rethinking our profession as design rather than science.
2:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.	Tour - Community Library of Dewitt & Jamesville Wendy Scott-Executive Director http://www.dewlib.org/# The Community Library of DeWitt & Jamesville sits on a seven-acre hillside lot at 5110 Jamesville Road, a short distance from Butternut Creek.
